BIDS ASKED FOR TWO CUTTERS

Five Navy Yards Will Submit Bids for Building Revenue Vessels

In consequence of the fact that private ship builders have declined to bid for the construction of two revenue cutters for the treasury department because they are unable to receive within the limit of cost specified by congress, Assistant Secretary of the Navy Winthrop Wednesday requested ed five of the navy yards to submit estimates by which the work could be undertaken by the government. The New York, Boston, Norfolk, Bremerton and Mare Island navy yards were asked to submit bids.

GOV. BASS INAUGURATED

Ceremony Occurred at 11 O'clock this Morning at State House

New Chief Executive's Lengthy and Able Address is Herewith Given in Full

Hon. Robert Perkins Bass of Peterboro was inaugurated governor of New Hampshire at the State House at Concord this morning at 11 o'clock in the presence of a large gathering. His address was as follows:

The permanent success of a representative democracy depends primarily on two conditions, first, that the government shall not fall under the control of any group, class or portion of the community; secondly, that those elected to the office by the people shall keep faith with their constituents. It should be a source of profound satisfaction to every thoughtful citizen interested primarily in the welfare of this republic that the country is being stirred today from end to end with political unrest.

There can be no progress without movement, and the political movement in the United States today means, to my mind, that the people are meeting the emergency of the hour, that they will make our representative government as successful under the new conditions of our civilization as it has been under the old. So sudden and gigantic has been our growth that to us have come greater riches than to any other nation on the face of the earth. I believe that the people of the United States will rise to the height of their opportunity, that they will be able to make use of the great wealth and resources which Providence has granted to them without succumbing to the control and domination of wealth, which has so often proved the destruction of nations.

It should be borne in mind, however, that a spasmodic awakening to the importance of the fundamental principles which underlie our form of government is not sufficient to secure and retain control of that government in the hands of the people. There is necessity for the continued interest of every public spirited citizen, there is necessity for hard constructive work, in which every citizen should have a share. Here in New Hampshire during the coming months the general court will be occupied in constructive work of the greatest importance to the welfare of the people of New Hampshire to help in putting through those measures which they desire to see written on the statute books and which justice and government by the people require.

Although, in the selection of their officers and representatives, the people act, through the machinery of parties, nevertheless they have chosen us to serve the interests of the state as a whole. There is a demand on the part of the citizens of New Hampshire, irrespective of party, for certain legislation which will develop the function of our government to meet new economic conditions. The platforms of both parties call for action of this character. We are in honor bound to do everything in our power to carry out each and every pledge which we have solemnly made to the people of New Hampshire, and which they have endorsed. Let me urge you all not to allow party strife to interfere with the wisdom of your deliberations and the effectiveness of your actions, but rather to work together in harmony towards that common goal of progress, the general welfare of New Hampshire.

You will be called upon to consider some of the most important and intricate problems submitted to any legislature in our state for a generation. They will require the most diligent investigation before they may be wisely solved. Hard as is the task, its successful accomplishment will bring to you a worthy place in the history of New Hampshire.

Therefore, let me urge you to reverse the custom of some previous legislatures. Frequently it has happened that little or nothing has been accomplished during the first few weeks of the session. Weighty measures affecting the interests of the whole state have been left to the last. Too often this has led to trading and log-rolling in regard to bills of importance which should have been considered solely on their merits. I cannot urge you too strongly to take up without delay the consideration and investigation of the many difficult questions before you.

Governor Quinn addressed you yesterday relative to the work accomplished by the different state departments during his administration. He has told you of the very gratifying condition and progress of our various state activities. I shall, therefore, confine myself chiefly to the consideration of future action on our part. Owing to the large number of live questions now under consideration, it will be impossible for me in this message to treat, as I should like, all the functions and services of many of the departments of state.

GRAFFORT CLUB BEGINS YEAR

The Graffort Club held the first meeting of the new year on Jan. 4 in Association Hall, the president, Mrs. Charles W. Brewster, presiding.

A talk on "Spain and the Basque Country" was given by Miss Margaret Patterson. From an intimate knowledge gained by a sojourn of many months among the people of this country Miss Patterson was enabled to give an entertaining description of their manners, customs and dress. Many interesting anecdotes from her own personal experience were given and the exhibition of numerous original paintings of the scenery and homes of the people of the north of Spain, helped to make the hour an instructive one.

SALEM TRACK LIEN STANDS

Judges Coll, Putnam and Lowell of the United States circuit court of appeals at Boston refused, yesterday, to review a mechanics lien for $10,000 established by the New Hampshire courts in favor of the Head & Dowst Company of Manchester upon the real estate and race track of the New England Breeders' Club at Salem, this state.

While the lien was pending in the state court the club went into bankruptcy. The Head & Dowst Company held a contract for the construction of the buildings and laying out the track at Salem and the lien is for a balance due. It did not seek to prove its claim in the bankruptcy proceedings.

DOINGS AT CONCORD

Detail of House and Senate Organization on Wednesday

The New Hampshire senate and house of representatives of 1911 and 1912 met at the remodeled state house at 1 o'clock Wednesday morning, received the oath of office from Governor Quinby and organized by the choice of the nominees of the Republican caucuses.

Speaker Musgrave of the house, or assuming officer, laid down a program as to the business of that body which was received with much approval.

At 11:20, Clerk Fitzpatrick sent a messenger to inform the governor that the senate was ready to be sworn. The governor arrived at 11:30 and administered the oath.

Senator Hosford of Monroe was elected temporary presiding officer. The senate then proceeded to ballot for president.

The chair appointed Senator Boutwell of Hopkinton and Senator Doe of Somersworth as tellers. The ballot was as follows:

Whole number of votes cast..... 22
William D. Swart 15
Michael E. Ahern 7
and Mr. Swart was elected.

Senator Ahern moved that the election be made unanimous and it was so voted.

Senator Cheney of Ashland and Senator Prentiss of Walpole escorted the new president to the chair.

Senator Stevenson of Exeter moved that the senate meet at 11 a. m., and 2 p. m., unless otherwise ordered.

Senator Boutwell moved that the secretary of state furnish the honorable senate with the vote of the various senatorial districts.

Senator Cheney of Ashland moved that the report of the senatorial vote be referred to a committee of three, who shall report on same. The chair appointed Senators Cheney, Rogers, and Lucier.

After the President had thanked the senate, Senator Merrill of Claremont moved the following resolution: That Martin Fitzpatrick as clerk, Earle C. Gordon as assistant clerk, William Critchett as master-at-arms, Edward Calvert as messenger, and Melvin J. Jenkins as doorkeepers, be elected by acclamation. They were elected and sworn in.

Senator Doe of Somersworth moved that the rules of the last session be used for this session.

Senator Lucier moved that the house be informed that the senate had elected its officers and was ready for business. Senator Hayden of Hollis moved that the clerk of the senate be authorized to furnish two newspapers to the members and officers of the senate.

After the canvass of the vote of the different senatorial districts by the committee the return was read to the senate by the clerk.

Senator Chapman of Manchester presented the following resolution, "That there appears a vacancy in District No. 6, and the senate is prepared to meet the house to fill the vacancy according to the constitution."

A message was received from the house announcing its organization. On the motion of Senator Gupilli of Raymond, the senate adjourned.

The New Hampshire house of representatives of 1911 and 1912 was called to order by Harrie M. Young, at 11:05 Wednesday morning, Jan. 4.

Mr. Young called the roll and all the members answered to their names except Otis of Dover, Beamish of Somersworth, Marden of Chichester, Sanders of Concord and Truell of Nashua.

Three hundred and eighty-seven members answered to their names.

On motion of French of Moultonboro, the clerk was authorized to appoint a committee to wait upon Governor Quinby and inform him that a quorum of the house had assembled.

The clerk appointed as such committee French of Moultonboro and Ahern of Concord.

Governor Quinby and his council appeared at 11:30 and his excellency administered the oath of office to the members of the house.

On motion of Pillsbury of Londonderry, a temporary presiding officer was chosen in the person of Walther of Haverhill.

Mr. Whiteher got a round of applause as he took the chair and thanked the members for his brief honor.

On motion of Ahern of Concord, the house proceeded to ballot for a speaker.

The presiding officer named Couch of Concord and Stevens of Landaff as tellers and the ballot proceeded. The ballot resulted:

Whole number of votes cast..... 385
Necessary to a choice..... 193
Alvan F. Wentworth 1
Rufus N. Elwell 1
Samuel D. Felker 175
Frank A. Musgrave 208
and Mr. Musgrave was declared elected.

Perkins of Manchester and Felker of Rochester, were named as a committee to escort the speaker to the chair and performed that duty.

Mr. Musgrave was heartily greeted as he took the chair and spoke as follows:

Gentlemen:

I am deeply appreciative of this honor which, by your votes, you have conferred upon me. I am not unmindful that the honor carries with it great responsibility. It shall be my conscientious endeavor to meet that responsibility impartially towards all members and faithfully to the state.

We have work of vital importance ahead of us and the speaker most earnestly requests from all members their earnest co-operation essential to the success of this session.

I can truthfully say that in my canvass for the nomination for speaker I have been the candidate of no special interests or individuals. I have made no promise or trade with any person, directly or indirectly, and I am free to discharge the duties of this office without fear or favor.

I wish at this time to state my attitude upon one or two matters concerning which I have very definite opinion.

I am extremely anxious that we be attentive to business and make an earnest, systematic endeavor for an early final adjournment. There are two fundamental causes of long sessions, non-attendance of members and the holding of bills by committees.

The custom of non-attendance doubtless develops during the first two weeks of the session, when business is being formulated, and is not immediately pressing, and the custom continues until it does seriously affect business. I believe that we should give to the business of state the same faithful application that we give to our own private business. I believe it our duty to give more than two working days a week and as soon as our work is staked out I trust that we will willingly get busy, devote all the possible time to that work and strive for early adjournment. For such accomplishment the speaker will co-operate with the members.

The holding of bills by committees, as a leverage for or against other measures, or for the purpose of killing the bills themselves, I trust we shall discourage. The inevitable result of such practice is a congestion of work at the close of the session and consequently inadequate consideration of important measures. Committees are designed as a medium for dispatching business and every bill which goes to committees is still the rightful property of the whole house and should be returned to the house in season for adequate consideration before final adjournment.

The speaker will co-operate with committees along the lines of this suggestion, and favors a house rule requiring committee reports upon all bills prior to specified time before final adjournment.

Kindred to the suggestion just made, I would state that in my mind it would be a praiseworthy accomplishment for us to clear the speaker's desk of all business before final adjournment. I believe that every measure which comes before us for consideration is entitled to at least our official disapproval and that we should not leave the speaker's desk full of unfinished business at the close of the session.

Upon the question of method of selecting house committees, I would state that I shall welcome the pleasure of the house. In this matter as in all others which may arise, I shall be but the servant of this house. In launching my candidacy for this office, I said that I did not believe a speaker should arrogate to himself too much power. I had in mind this very power of a speaker to select prejudiced committees. Should the house decide that the speaker should appoint the committees, after the usual custom, it will be my intention to announce immediately the committee on elections. There are several disputed election cases which should be promptly considered. In justice to those whose rights are involved and in the interest of economy for the state. And, further, inasmuch as the general work of the session cannot progress until standing committees are appointed, I should endeavor to appoint all committees before the close of the present week.

Public office is not designed for the promotion of the individual; public office should mean public service, and that service demands impartial committees based upon qualifications and experience.

Consistent with this policy to secure competent, impartial committees I believe it a sound principle that no state institution or commission should select house committees to consider those questions in which they are interested; neither should committees be "loaded" against them. They are entitled to unprejudiced consideration, but they should not appoint juries to try their own cases. A speaker should welcome suggestions from authorities of these institutions, and from individuals, but he should even finally make his selections without distinction and in accordance with his own honest judgment.

If your speaker selects the committees he shall ask of committee chairmen agreement with the suggestions already made as to holding of bills, reporting the same promptly to the house, helping to clean the speaker's desk of business, and striving for early final adjournment, and a willingness at all times to co-operate with the speaker and welcome suggestions from him, for the facilitation of business.

Nor does the speaker desire any unnecessary power in appointing house attaches. On the contrary, I would state frankly that there is grave doubt whether the number of attaches of this house has not grown beyond its actual needs. I would recommend an immediate enquiry into this matter, through a committee, and would welcome economy by any reduction which may be made consistent with working efficiency. In the selection of these attaches, the speaker will endeavor to consider the apparent majority desire of the members and will aim at a somewhat equitable distribution among different sections of the state, so far as these two factors may be considered without detriment to our work.

There is one parliamentary custom which I wish to discharge. I refer to the custom of appointing as our member of a committee that member who offers the resolution creating said committee. The custom is doubtless based on the assumption that the member who introduces the resolution is interested in the object for which the committee is created, and therefore qualified to serve on said committee. To my mind strict adherence to such custom makes it impossible for the speaker always to themselves sometimes comment that the member who makes the resolution is seeking position, and if in instances the custom is not followed the member affected thinks that unjust exception has been made in such instance. Your speaker will not always attempt to follow that custom.

One more suggestion: I believe that when the house is taking a division vote the accuracy of that vote should be satisfactorily safeguarded. I have in mind the tendency of members to stand in the aisles and near the doors, making it difficult for the tellers to count the vote. A mistake by one vote may pass or defeat important legislation. I would recommend that when a vote by division is called for, every member be seated, the aisles and doorways be cleared, and that then, according to house rules, when the vote is being taken the "members rise in their places and remain standing until counted."

In conclusion I would state that these suggestions are made in the utmost good faith and are not designed as criticisms. I believe that committee assignments should be made at the earliest possible moment, and I urge that the members get their bills before the house at once that committees may promptly begin work. I again urge regularity of attendance, a full working week, faithful committee service, and an earnest endeavor to complete our work with the greatest possible economy of time and expense and to secure an early final adjournment with the speaker's desk cleared of business.

The speaker's remarks were given the closest attention and at the end applauded.

On motion of Ahern of Concord the speaker cast one vote for Harrie M. Young of Manchester for clerk and one vote for Bernard W. Carey of Newbury for assistant clerk.

Felker of Rochester administered the oath of office.

On motion of Shannon of Landaff the speaker cast one vote for Albert P. Davis of Concord for sergeant-at-arms and for John F. Bartlett, Oscar D. Beverstock, Walter J. A. Ward and Charles A. Holden for doorkeepers.

On motion of Albert Wagner of Manchester the speaker was authorized to appoint a committee of 10 on the selection of a chaplain.

EASILY BREAKS A SEVERE COLD

Ends All Grippe Misery in Just a Few Hours

Pape's Cold Compound is the result of three years' research at a cost of more than fifty thousand dollars and contains no quinine, which we have conclusively demonstrated is not effective in the treatment of colds or grippe.

It is a positive fact that a dose of Pape's Cold Compound, taken every two hours until three consecutive doses are taken, will end the Grippe and break up the most severe cold, either in the head, chest, back, stomach, limbs or any part of the body.

It promptly relieves the most miserable neuralgia pains, headache, dizziness, sneezing, sore throat, running of the nose, mucous catarrhal discharges, soreness, stiffness and rheumatic twinges.

Take this harmless Compound as directed, with the knowledge that there is no other medicine, made anywhere else in the world, which will cure your cold or end Grippe misery as promptly and without any other assistance or bad after-effects, as a 25 cent package of Pape's Cold Compound, which any druggist in the world can supply.

MAINE OYSTERS A POSSIBILITY

In addition to the lobster fishery of the Maine coast, James Donahue, commissioner of sea and shore fisheries is anxious to improve the clamming business and to develop the oyster fishing.

Through his efforts the legislature of 1909 appropriated $3000 for propagation of shellfish. Most of this was not used, but the results attained were remarkable.

The commissioner has established that the oyster can be cultivated with profit on the Maine coast and that the fish are of fine flavor and quality.

"All question as to whether the oyster can be cultivated to advantage in Maine has been settled," said Mr. Donahue. "Our experiments on the Sheepscot river have done that. In 1909 they tugged 600 bushels from the beds of that river. In 1910 they took 3000 bushels. These oysters were of exceedingly fine quality. The beds of this river are nearly five miles long and the crop will continue to increase, if properly cared for."

"We have also tried cultivating the oyster at other points with marked success, and you would be surprised to know how many excellent spots there are along our coast for the development of these fish. We have excellent beds in Damariscotta bay, which will soon be very productive if properly handled."

"Another experiment with the oyster is in the thoroughfare at Isle au Haute, an effort to cultivate the oyster in salt water."

The commissioner is in favor of a law allowing leasing of oyster beds to individuals for cultivation. He calls attention to the results attained in Rhode Island. The first year the state leased its oyster beds it received a rental of $72, while last year its income from this source was $131,000.

The moment sections of the beds were leased the lessees became anxious to make money and made extensive plantings. The spat, or eggs from these plants, could not all be held on the leased bottoms. They float until they settle to the bottom. Part of this spat necessarily settled on the public beds. Soon the public beds were productive.

He says the same arguments will apply to the clam flats. He says: "If a third of a clam flat be leased, inside of two years the remaining two-thirds open to the public will be more productive than the entire flat was prior to that time."

Cures baby's croup, Willie's daily cat's and bruises, mama's sore throat, grandma's lameness—Dr. Thomas' Eucalyptic Oil—the great household remedy.

On motion of Foss of Dover the Honorable Senate was notified of the organization of the house.

MAINE OYSTERS A POSSIBILITY

In addition to the lobster fishery of the Maine coast, James Donahue, commissioner of sea and shore fisheries is anxious to improve the clamming business and to develop the oyster fishing.

Through his efforts the legislature of 1909 appropriated $3000 for propagation of shellfish. Most of this was not used, but the results attained were remarkable.

The commissioner has established that the oyster can be cultivated with profit on the Maine coast and that the fish are of fine flavor and quality.

"All question as to whether the oyster can be cultivated to advantage in Maine has been settled," said Mr. Donahue. "Our experiments on the Sheepscot river have done that. In 1909 they tugged 600 bushels from the beds of that river. In 1910 they took 3000 bushels. These oysters were of exceedingly fine quality. The beds of this river are nearly five miles long and the crop will continue to increase, if properly cared for."

"We have also tried cultivating the oyster at other points with marked success, and you would be surprised to know how many excellent spots there are along our coast for the development of these fish. We have excellent beds in Damariscotta bay, which will soon be very productive if properly handled."

"Another experiment with the oyster is in the thoroughfare at Isle au Haute, an effort to cultivate the oyster in salt water."

The commissioner is in favor of a law allowing leasing of oyster beds to individuals for cultivation. He calls attention to the results attained in Rhode Island. The first year the state leased its oyster beds it received a rental of $72, while last year its income from this source was $131,000.

The moment sections of the beds were leased the lessees became anxious to make money and made extensive plantings. The spat, or eggs from these plants, could not all be held on the leased bottoms. They float until they settle to the bottom. Part of this spat necessarily settled on the public beds. Soon the public beds were productive.

He says the same arguments will apply to the clam flats. He says: "If a third of a clam flat be leased, inside of two years the remaining two-thirds open to the public will be more productive than the entire flat was prior to that time."

BODY OF THIRD "RED" IS FOUND

Recovered From Ruins of Anarchists' Citadel

A PLOT AGAINST ROYALTY

Police Think It Was Intended to Carry
It Out During Coronation in June—
London Realizes Blunder in Calling
Out Great Force of Police and Military to Get Suspects, Thus Causing Unnecessary Trouble

London, Jan. 5.—The charred and blackened body of "Peter the Painter," leader of the gang of anarchists which tore out a red page of Russian terrorism and rewrote it in English blood, was dragged from the ruins of the Sidney street den yesterday, while from all parts of England the press was calling upon the government for the sternest crusade against foreign anarchists in the history of the country.

The police have received further confirmation of the report that the band headed by two Russian terrorists, "Peter the Painter" and "Dutch Fritz," were formulating a general demonstration against royalty when their plans were cut short by death.

This plot is believed to have been aimed at King George and practically all of the royalty of Europe who will be in attendance at the coronation ceremonies here next June. The news of it was given to King George and he at once urged the police to wage a relentless campaign against revolutionary suspects.

A Russian woman taken prisoner in the anarchist citadel before the battle began is believed to have betrayed secrets and plans of the gang involving scores of anarchists.

Three bodies have now been taken from the ruins of the Sidney street stronghold. One of the bodies recovered had been identified as "Dutch Fritz," or Fritz Svarras, as he is known to the police of three continents, but the identity of the third is still unknown.

Police reserves had to be called out yesterday to hold the street crowds in check. The tops of neighboring houses were black with people. Moving picture machines taking photographs of the battle scene clicked for hours, and while the ruins were being searched.

The police investigation established the fact that the anarchists fired the building themselves, going to their self-inflicted doom rather than surrender themselves alive to the authorities.

After a day's reflection the sober thought of London appears to be that the marshalling of a great force of police and military to destroy a little nest of outlaws was a mistake. A number of provincial papers, too, criticize the authorities sharply.

The Manchester Dispatch says that Englishmen have been made to appear ridiculous and that the affair is one which the country will be glad to forget. The impression is gaining ground that the police should have dealt with the business without calling upon the soldiers, and that the summoning of the horse artillery was a particularly unnecessary move.

Some of the critics point out that instead of walking up stairs, kicking in the door and taking their man, or taking whatever officer is likely to get in the discharge of his duties, they summoned the landlady from the upper floor and then recognized about the house until they drew the fire of the anarchists from the windows of their room. The battle finally ended in the burning alive of human beings within the sight of as many of London's thousands as could crowd upon the adjoining rooftops.

WAR AGAINST TYPHOID

Prophylactic Treatment Recommended
Throughout the Army

Washington, Jan. 5.—The success of the prophylactic treatment to prevent infection by typhoid has been so definite that Major General Wood, chief of staff of the army, has issued a general order directing all commanding officers throughout the service to use their best efforts to induce all officers and men to their commands, and all civilians connected with the army, to submit to vaccination against typhoid and thus reduce the liability of the spread of the disease.

There is no compulsory order for the application of this prophylactic.

DEATH OF SENATOR ELKINS

When the End Came

Washington, Jan. 5.—Senator Stephen B. Elkins of West Virginia died at his home here about midnight. Early last night, when the senator had a sudden sinking spell, it was felt that death was near, and members of his family gathered about his bedside. The senator had been ill for several weeks, and despite the best of medical care, had been gradually getting worse from the day he was first stricken.

NIGHT INSPECTORS TO GO

Result of Investigation of Doings at Boston Custom-House

Boston, Jan. 5.—As a result of the investigation by special treasury agents, when at least one of the night inspectors was found to be asleep, clad in pink pajamas, when he was supposed to be keeping watch, the force of local night customs inspectors is soon to be abolished.

Most of the men now holding the jobs will be reduced to watchmen. A few will be made day inspectors, depending on the recommendations made to Secretary of the Treasury MacVeagh by his special agents who have been conducting the inquiry in Boston.

JUST STOP TALKING IF YOU'RE NERVOUS

Persons Not Loquacious Have Good Health, Says Doctor

Washington, Jan. 5.—Dr. Enrico Serafini of Italy says silence is the only cure for neurasthenia and all nervous disorders.

"Nervous depression and neurasthenia are due," said Serafini, "to a tendency to talk too much, a mental effort which excites the entire nervous system—the effort of thinking of making up phrases, of listening to and forming arguments with hearers, of being attentive to them, of co-ordinating the thread of conversation."

"Persons who are not loquacious, medical records show, have always been remarkable for their good health."

GETS TWO THOUSAND DIMITES

Young Woman's First Instalment of $2000 Balm Award

Brockton, Mass., Jan. 5.—Celia Stein received 2000 10-cent pieces yesterday afternoon from Abraham Meyers as first payment of the judgment she secured against Meyers in a breach of promise suit.

Miss Stein had been unable to collect any of the $2000 that was awarded her last fall. She arranged that Meyers meet her at the office of her attorney. After a long consultation, Meyers offered to pay $200 as the first instalment.

This was accepted by the young lady, whereupon Meyers began emptying his pocket of the dimes. He has several bags which he offered after he had emptied all of his pockets.

Miss Stein then filled her handbag, pockets and every available fold of her clothing with the little pieces of money and then took her money home.

SUPPOSED BANDIT CAUGHT

Had Escaped From Police Station
While Chief Was Absent

Pittsburg, Mass., Jan. 5.—After being arrested and escaping from the Leominster police station while Chief Laselle was absent, Orville Charron, aged 28, was recaptured and brought to this city to answer to the charge of robbing George Deauregard, manager of John Lavoie's grocery, of $120, at the point of a gun.

The robbery was committed by a man in the attire of a western bandit, and with his face masked. The police say that Charron has admitted the act, and he will also be asked if he knows anything about the holdup and robbery of Miss Carrie Jones of Leominster on the streets of that town.

AN UNLAWFUL COMBINATION

Charge Against Large Group

GOVERNMENT BRINGS SUIT

Thirteen Companies Alleged to Have Entered Into Illegal Contract to Wage Cut-Throat Competition
Against All Lines Outside "Atlantic Conference"—Income From Steerage
Rates an Important Feature

New York, Jan. 5.—The federal government brought suit here, under the terms of the Sherman anti-trust law, in the United States circuit court of the southern district of New York, against thirteen of the principal trans-Atlantic carriers, estimated to control 90 percent of the steerage traffic, worth to them $55,000,000 a year. Twelve officers of the defendant companies, all resident in America, are also named as co-defendants.

In its petition the government prays "that each, every and all of the defendant steamship lines be forbidden either to enter or clear any of their vessels at or from the port of New York or any other port of entry in the United States or any of its possessions, so long as they shall continue to operate under the aforesaid alleged unlawful combination or conspiracy."

These thirteen companies, the government charges, entered an illegal contract on Feb. 5, 1908, at London, by which they constituted themselves the Atlantic conference, with power to apportion all traffic pro-rata, impose heavy fines on members of the conference for violation of any of the articles of agreement, and wage cut-throat competition against all lines outside the conference.

As a result, it is alleged, the Russian volunteer fleet, plying between New York and Lihuan, were driven out of business, and the Russian-American line was forced to make terms with the conference, and enter its membership.

Suit was brought by Henry A. Wise, United States district attorney, acting under instructions from George Wickesham, United States attorney general, and the government further prays the court to "enjoin the defendants from further agreeing, combining, conspiring . . . to injure or destroy the business of any person or corporation engaged in the business of carrying steerage passengers between points in the United States and Europe."

When in March, 1910, the federal government instituted an inquiry into the affairs of the defendant companies, the committee of three organized to direct reprisals on competing lines was disbanded, says the complaint, and rates for steerage transportation on the fighting ships are said to have been altered from time to time.

The average number of immigrants for the last five years is given at 1,200,000 and the average number of annual emigrants for the same period at 500,000, and the income from steerage rates, the complaint says, is one of the most important parts of the defendant companies' revenue.

The text of the complaint and petition was given out so late yesterday afternoon that none of the defendant companies would make any statement through their representatives, preferring to wait until they had read it in full. An answer is expected today.

ROBIN GOES TO TOMBS

Banker Pleads Not Guilty and Bail Is Raised to $40,000

New York, Jan. 5.—Joseph G. Robin, banker, promoter and financial operator of large undertakings, was lodged in the Tombs on an indictment charging him with stealing $80,000 from the Washington Savings bank, of which he was president.

On his plea of not guilty, bail was raised from $25,000 to $40,000, which was not furnished. Robin's counsel, former District Attorney Jerome, told the court that his client was without a dollar in the world.

The hearing on the petition of Robin's sister, Dr. Louise Robinovitch, to have him declared insane, is set for today.

tions in the light of information now obtainable.

3. New Institutions or lines of state activity.

4. What economies or retrenchment may be effected without decreasing the efficiency of the service rendered.

From the findings of such an investigation the state should be enlightened relative to—

1. The extent of the problem involved in the present and future care of its sick and dependent.

2. The wisest and most effective plan for the application of its resources available for such purposes.

3. What appropriations are most urgently needed at this session.

4. What sum the state can devote annually to its charitable and penal institutions.

At this session you will be asked to appropriate money for many purposes, among them the following:

The establishment of a state industrial school for girls.

The establishment of a state workhouse for those convicted of petty crimes.

A dormitory for epileptics at the state school for the feeble minded.

An appropriation for the treatment of indigent crippled and tuberculous children.

The erection of a new building for housing the 124 insane still remaining at county almshouses.

Provision for the proper isolation and treatment of those affected with tuberculosis both in its incipient and advanced stages.

The care by the state of the insane, the dependent, and those mentally deficient, has been of inestimable benefit to those unfortunate. Our state charitable and penal institutions should be developed and maintained to the highest degree of efficiency consonant with our income. Most of these institutions ask every year for additional buildings or equipment, often unquestionably badly needed. It should be borne in mind, however, that the revenues of the state are distinctly limited, consequently it is important that we use the public funds where they are most needed and to the best possible advantage.

Corporations and Politics

There is a universal demand on the part of the people of our state that corporations get out and keep out of politics. Heretofore, they have been in politics for their own selfish ends, and to a degree that was highly injurious to the interests of our citizens.

The president of the Boston and Maine railroad has recently emphatically expressed his intention of taking his corporation out of politics. He has declared his purpose of coming openly and frankly before the legislature to ask for such action as in his judgment is needed by his corporation.

It is most desirable to bring about a proper relation between corporations and the people whom they serve and from whom they primarily derive their privileges. We should do all in our power to further such conditions. To that end, let us see that the corporations receive fair play in every instance and that they be not subjected to any unjust legislation.

On the other hand, we should vigilantly scrutinize all proposed legislation. During our tenure of office we are the trustees of the rights of the citizens of New Hampshire, who elected us to carry out certain definite policies.

Public Utilities Commission

All our enterprises, whether agricultural, industrial or commercial, are to some extent dependent upon transportation. In this state the railroad and express companies have virtual monopolies, consequently it is of vast importance to our people that there be adequate regulation of these corporations. We should also have the same regulation of the telephone, telegraph, light, heat and power companies, to the end that they may be so dealt with as to protect the right and interest of the public. The platforms of both parties call for the abolition of the present railroad commission.

The functions of the commission as now constituted are limited in scope. There is a lack of precision in the statutes by which the powers of the board are granted and an absence of proper means to enforce its findings. I recommend that you create a public service commission to take the place of the present railroad commission. It should have the authority fully to regulate rates, service and capitalization of all public service companies. For this most important and difficult service the highest grade of men should be secured. To this end reasonable salaries should be granted. Appointments should also be made for terms of substantial length, to the end that the commissioners may be removed as far as possible from political influences.

Railroad Rates

By statutes passed in 1883 and 1889, the state authorized railroad consolidation, but only on condition that rates for fares and freights should not be increased beyond those then existing.

The Boston and Maine availed itself of the authority thus conferred, and hereby accepted the conditions upon which the authority was granted. The conditions were observed until about 1903, when many rates were increased without legislative authority. In 1908, the attorney general instituted legal proceedings in behalf of the state to enforce the statutory provision against such increases. The supreme court held unanimously that these conditions were binding upon the railroad. These illegal rates are still in force.

In view of the declared intention of the officers of the Boston and Maine railroad to come before the legislature and ask for action legalizing existing rates, I have talked with the general solicitor of the railroad and with many citizens and attorneys of our state not connected with the railroad, and I have come to these conclusions, which I suggest for your consideration.

While expressing its intention of complying with this provision of the law, the railroad asks relief therefrom. Its officials represent that increased operating expenses, including a large advance in wages, necessitate higher rates in order to meet expenses and pay a reasonable return on the present and future capitalization of the corporation. They maintain further that the present low rates required by law will hamper the railroad in raising the funds necessary for the improvement and betterment of the property.

This declaration and claim on the part of the railroad should receive your immediate consideration. It is most desirable that such improvements be installed as will provide better transportation facilities within our state with the least delay possible. You should treat this whole matter with the utmost fairness and impartiality. The development of our railroad under an economical and progressive management is an important factor in the growth and prosperity of our commercial, industrial and agricultural enterprises. Such development should not, however, be accomplished in a way to lay an undue burden upon the public at present and for all future time.

The statutes authorizing the consolidation gave to the state a unique power of control over rates that should not be surrendered. As long as this law is on the statute books it should be enforced. The questions involved are very intricate and of vital importance, not only to us but to coming generations. You will bear in mind that practically all the data involved are in the hands of the party seeking relief, that its case will be prepared and presented by the most eminent attorneys and skilled experts that money can provide. It is clearly your duty to see that the interests of the people are equally well represented and safeguarded. Every presumption should be made in favor of the continuance of ancient safeguards established for the defense of the rights of the people against oppression of monopoly and those safeguards should neither be withdrawn, released nor suspended except for strong reasons clearly demonstrated. On the other hand, you should not use your power to oppress either individual or corporation, but to do exact justice to all. You should not decide upon any form of remedy until you have the facts clearly before you. It should be borne in mind that the burden of the proof is upon the petitioner who seeks relief from the present lawful rates.

With the information at hand it is difficult to recommend any definite solution of this problem. A possible method of treating the matter is for you to appoint at once a special committee to hold hearings in order to ascertain the facts bearing upon the case. In justice to all concerned this committee should make every effort to prepare and present an early report on these facts.

If, upon this report and upon all the information at your command, you are satisfied that the railroad has substantiated its claims as to the necessity for some relief and if you find such claim to be equitable and just, you could incorporate in the act creating a public service commission the following provisions:

1. That the commission shall have power to provide temporary relief from any burdensome condition for a definite limited period.

2. That it be made the immediate duty of this commission to make during this period of temporary relief an exhaustive investigation of all rates affected by the statutes of consolidation.

3. That the commission shall have full power to deal with all questions relating to the reasonableness or unreasonableness of any rate or rates and to make and enforce their orders and decrees in respect thereto.

4. That at the same time there shall be specifically reserved and retained in the state all the rights which it now has over all such rates.

You will appreciate the importance of giving to this commission ample facilities and powers and funds for the conduct of this work.

The final determination of the reasonableness of any particular rates should rest only upon a more complete investigation than it is within our power to make during this session.

Express Rates

On the petition of the state board of trade the railroad commissioners held a prolonged hearing some years ago and took much testimony relative to express rates in New Hampshire. As a result of this hearing the rate of railroad commission-ers in express rates. These lower rates have not yet been put in force. The express company took an appeal to the superior court. The whole matter is still pending, for there are no funds available to prepare and conduct this case for the state. Experience has taught us that effective regulation is essential to protect the public from exorbitant rates. We are not getting effective regulation of express rates. As a first step to that end, I recommend that the attorney general be directed to represent the interest of the state in this appeal and that the necessary funds be provided therefor. Such action should be taken at once in order that the public may be subjected to no further delay in the proper adjustment of these rates. There should further be provision for the appearance of the attorney general, when so directed by the governor, at hearings of the interstate commerce commission relative to fixing rates and service on traffic plying within the state of New Hampshire.

The Attorney General
The business interests of the state have for many years been constantly increasing, consequently more work falls upon the legal representative of the state. I recommend that the attorney general be required to give his services exclusively to the duties of his office and that his salary be correspondingly increased. His duties and authority should be fully defined. He should be at the Capitol when the legislature is in session.

Taxation
The general belief in the inequalities of our system of taxation led to the appointment of what is known as the tax commission of 1908. After exhaustive research, the findings of that commission were embodied in a report which should be made the basis of an effective legislative program to remedy the inequalities now existing.

There is at present great discrepancy in the valuation of property for the purpose of taxation throughout the state. Real estate is now appraised too high in comparison with other property. To remedy existing inequalities, the tax commission of 1908 recommends the following action, in which recommendation I concur: the creation of a permanent tax commission with the power to correct local inequalities of assessment. Our existing laws call for the appraisal of all taxable property at its full and true value in money. This is rarely done at the present time. Such a commission would see to it that all property is so appraised at its full value, thereby effecting a corresponding decrease in the rate of taxation.

It would also appraise the property of our public service corporations. They should bear their fair share of the burden of taxation, no more, no less. In order to avoid differences of opinion, haphazard valuations and consequent litigation, the commission should be instructed as to the method to be pursued in reaching such valuation. Furthermore, the fullest publicity concerning the findings of the commission is recommended. In this connection, I suggest for your consideration that bill which was passed by the last house of representatives and which was known as the "Wyman bill."

When this system was put in force you should provide for some new method of taxing timber lands. Where the timber is all cut at once, our forest lands yield an income at intervals of from forty to eighty, or one hundred years.

BOSTON MAN BLAMED FOR GIRL'S ABSENCE

Detectives Think That Los Angeles Miss Was Hypnotized

Los Angeles, Cal., Jan. 5.—Believed to have been lured away from home under hypnotic influence, and stories of immense wealth, Jessie M. Gearhardt, aged 15, the pretty daughter of I. H. Gearhardt, has been missing since New Year's day.

On the pretense that she was going to the Arcade depot to bid farewell to a friend, the girl left home Sunday morning and that was the last time her parents saw her. After conducting a vigorous search, her mother appealed to the detectives for aid in locating her.

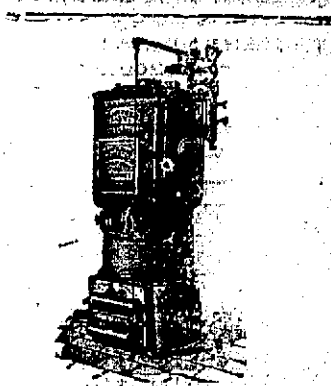

The mother told the detectives that she believed the girl had been induced to leave her home by Harrie Wilson, a Boston man who had frequently called on her during the past few weeks.

Detectives who are working on the case think Wilson's real name is Harry Murphy. They say he has hypnotic powers to a pronounced degree. Friends of the family fear Mrs. Gearhardt will lose her mind through grief unless her daughter is found soon.

SELFISHNESS.

There are some tempers wrought up by habitual selfishness to an utter irrepressibility of what becomes of the fortunes of their fellow creatures, as if they were not partakers of the same nature or had no lot or connection at all with the species.—Sera.

"AN ANCIENT PRAYER"

Conservative civilization, which is wont to frown upon Sandfordism, Dowleism and similar dangerously fanatical cults is itself honeycombed with an obscure, comparatively unknown religious extravaganza which should not only be frowned upon, but stamped out of existence like a deadly viper.

The experience of "F. G. M." whose communication under the head "An Ancient Prayer," was published in Wednesday's Herald, is of course not all a new one. It is that of numerous other residents of this city who have in times past as well as recently been annoyed by the receipt of "endless chain letters."

"Oh Lord Jesus," the prayer runs, "I implore Thee to bless all mankind. Keep me from evil by thy precious blood and make me to dwell with Thee in eternity."

The sender of this imposition explains "This prayer was sent to me. I send it to you. It is an exact copy of an ancient prayer. It is said that he who will not copy will meet with some misfortune, but he who will, for nine days, beginning the day received, and send each day to a friend, will on the ninth day receive some great blessing and will be delivered from all calamity. Make a wish when writing the prayer and do not be the one to break the chain. It cannot be signed."

This pestiferous absurdity serves only to infuse in the minds of many of its recipients the perilous delusion that the Creator is a sanguinary Being whose subjects are allowed happiness or even existence on earth only on sufferance.

Unfortunately not all have received these threats, for such they are, in the spirit of "F. G. M." Unfortunately some of the recipients lack the moral stamina to regard the poisonous missives as a joke. It is much more than a joke to those who take it seriously. In such hands the titillating "chain" scatters its baleful influence to the four winds of heaven with appalling swiftness and sureness, for the mendacious ingenuity of the plan provides for its inevitable and endless expansion.

The abuse is deserving of suppression on the ground of fraudulent use of the mails if nothing more, and submission to the anonymous injunction "do not be the one to break the chain" should be made a serious offense.

BIRDSEYE VIEWS

An Indian guide in Maine sizes up the state's game laws as follows: "Kill cow moose, pay $100; kill man, too bad!" Even the despotic captain of a steamer who came into Boston not long ago after a stormy trip held his sailors in higher regard. He reported that he had lost overboard two men and three Chinese.

The Montana ranchman who came east matrimonially inclined has been flitted by the Auburn, Me., girl who advertised for a helpmeet. Only Dr. Cook's signature is needed to complete this pretty little fancy.

The Hill of Tara, famed in early Irish history, is to be sold. What will become of the harp that once through Tara's halls?

The term "Frugal Millionaire" seen in a newspaper headline, is a most delicate way of getting around a less pleasant word describing a wealthy reclusive who died recently not far from here. There is much the same distinction as between "eccentric" when applied to the peculiarities of a rich man and "nutty" to his less moneyed neighbor. Noblesse oblige.

An United States army officer claims to have invented a device that will permit ten people to talk over one telephone line simultaneously. If he imagines he has anything original he is sadly mistaken, for they are doing that right along, on some of the ordinary every day lines of the local exchange.

That was a wise calf that was born out in New York state with its skin wrong side out. Evidently anticipating a severe winter, it embraced the fur-lined glove idea.

For giving his bride's age incorrectly when applying for a marriage license an East Boston man has been fined $75—no doubt a surprise to him as well as to many who have regarded this apparently inconsequential and frequently practiced deception too lightly.

Baking potatoes exploded and blew off the door of an oven out in Washington and the correspondent who sent out the story states that potatoes are so large in that region that the occurrence is a common one. The expediency of this method of booming the state's agricultural advantages, however, is somewhat doubtful.

AMONG OUR EXCHANGES

Persistent Army Aviators

Probably no surprise will have been caused by the assurance that the tragic deaths of John B. Moissant and Arch Hoxsey will not interfere with the military aviation meet scheduled to be held in San Francisco beginning at the latter end of this week and lasting eight days. If Hoxsey's recent achievement in sailing more than four thousand feet above the highest mountain in California was significant then from a military point of view, it is no less so now that Hoxsey and Moissant have joined the many whose lives have been sacrificed to the science of aviation. Airships may, or may not, sometime figure prominently in military operations. The important thing at present, from the military standpoint, is that they be subjected to careful study and experiment, to the end that their possibilities in that respect may be realized. If the aerial craft is impracticable for military purposes, the sooner the fact is positively known, the better. If it possesses real and

THE TEST OF MERIT

Portsmouth People Are Given Convincing Proof

No better test of any article can be made than the test of time and this is particularly true of a kidney medicine. Doan's Kidney Pills have stood this test and stood it well. What better proof of the merits of this remedy could you demand, than the statement of a Portsmouth resident who has been cured and has stayed cured?

Read the following:

B. A. Berry, 174 Congress St., Portsmouth, N. H., says: "Doan's Kidney Pills did a member of our family more good than any other remedy he ever tried. The person referred to is employed on the railroad and the constant jolting and jarring of the cars weakened his kidneys. His back was very lame and at times his whole body became sore. Learning that Doan's Kidney Pills were a fine remedy for kidney complaint, he procured a box at Philbrick's Drug Store and began their use. Before long a cure was effected and from that day on his kidney trouble has not returned. I also used Doan's Kidney Pills and they cured me of a lame-ness in my back and strengthened my kidneys."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-McIlhenny Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

Dogs May Be Sick and Not Be Mad

THIS is a time of year when people are afraid of madness in dogs. It is a mistake, however, to think dogs are more apt to go mad in summer than at any other time.

The "dog days" have nothing to do with hydrophobia. They are so named because at this time Sirius, the "dog star," goes around the sun.

Dogs, especially young ones, have convulsions, just as children do, from overeating, indigestion and particularly from intestinal worms. All they need is some physic and bromide of potash.

If this treatment had been followed in many cases valuable dogs killed as mad might have been saved to live for years. Collie puppies are especially prone to the nervous indigestion so frequently mistaken by the uninitiated for rabies.

practical merits in relation to such purposes, early realization of those merits is equally important. The forthcoming meet at San Francisco will undoubtedly result in the forming of some advanced ideas in this regard.—Manchester Union.

Bird Plumage

Bird plumage as an adjunct of fashionable millinery is about to be made the subject of governmental investigation. The biological survey, in whose province the conservation of bird life falls, is desirous of cutting down to the last degree the use of the feather of song and insect eating birds in the millinery trade. Several states have recently passed laws on this subject, and the government officials desire to see those laws enforced. An tue biological survey can do is to point out violations, and this is what it intends to do. A number of states have had anti-plumage laws for years without trying to enforce them, it is asserted, and the survey is now engaged in the task of trying to convince state officials that the laws for the protection of birds ought to be enforced to the letter. Missouri is one of the states that has had a law covering the ground without being interested in its enforcement. Recently at the request of the federal officials, the state game commissioner of Missouri has designated one of his deputies as a plumage expert, charging him with the duty of inspecting and securing satisfactory identification of all feather goods displayed in millinery establishments.

In the state of New York, after a long and active campaign, a satisfactory law has been secured by bird protectionists to replace the former statute relating to bird plumage. Under this law, which goes into effect on the first day of next July, it will be possible for representatives of the biological survey and the state officials working together to furnish adequate protection to such American birds, like herons, egrets, etc., as are threatened with extermination because of the great demand for their plumage for millinery purposes.—Bridford Journal.

A Short Session

The members of the New Hampshire legislature of 1911 ought to be better informed than most of their predecessors as to what they are here for and what their constituents expect of them.

There was little of evasion in either the republican or the democratic state platforms of 1910 in New Hampshire. Each made many direct declarations as to needed legislation and the measures of reform and progress which received the unqualified endorsement of both parties were not few.

Every member of the legislature was elected as either a republican or a democrat and when he sought and secured his nomination and elected he pledged himself by those acts to the principles which his party endorsed.

It would seem, therefore, that it should not require many weeks for the legislature to redeem those pledges of both parties to the people and with that accomplished there will be little more for the general court to do. The goal of final adjournment before town meeting day will be reached.

But better a six months' session than an early adjournment with promises broken and pledges unfulfilled. The people of New Hampshire have certain well defined ideas as to what their legislature of 1911 should accomplish. The sooner those ends are reached the better, but if they are not reached at this session senators and representatives will be taken to task by the voters who sent them to Concord.—Concord Monitor.

THANKING EMPLOYEES

The American Express Company officials have issued a letter to all its employees thanking them for their work during the rush of business during the holiday season.

Governor Bass and his council will take the oath of office today.

PEOPLE'S OPINIONS

Editor Herald:—Just a few words about the opening scenes of the General Court of New Hampshire. Put it on record that we commenced with a summer day in mid-winter. The corridor of the Eagle began to fill on the arrival of the evening trains on Tuesday, and in the evening the full crowd was present and everybody a busy bee. It was quite a social affair and everything was lovely. They were close together—representatives, senators, candidates and interested friends—all glad to keep in from the rain. We hob-nobbed and compared notes until the Rockingham delegation met in room 7 and Mr. Elwell of Exeter led the business, which consisted in making arrangements for the evening caucus. The result was that the delegation should vote for whatever speaker each member should choose. For clerk there was no discussion, as Harrie M. Young of Manchester had no opponent. For assistant clerk, they favored Bernard W. Carry of Newport. For doorkeepers John F. Bartlett, Oscar D. Beverstock, Charles A. Holden with either George Lawrence of Manchester, or Walter J. A. Ward of Hillsboro, with the understanding that if the Hillsboro county delegation chose one of them the other would be left out, allowing but one candidate for any county.

The democrats had their caucus at 8 o'clock and nominated Samuel D. Felker of Rochester for speaker; John T. Stewart of Berlin for clerk; George H. Duncan of Jaffrey for assistant clerk, and Frank E. Horner of Concord for sergeant-at-arms. The republican caucus was at 9 o'clock, and the result of two and a half hours' labor was the election of Frank A. Musgrove of Hanover for speaker; Harrie M. Young as clerk; Bernard W. Carry, assistant clerk; John F. Bartlett, Oscar D. Beverstock, Charles A. Holden and Walter J. A. Ward as doorkeepers and Albert P. Davis of Concord sergeant-at-arms. The republican senate caucus balloted without change thirty-five times—the vote standing John Pender 5, Arthur J. Boutwell 5, William D. Swart 6, and the caucus adjourned until Wednesday morning without choice.

Upon his election, Mr. Musgrove responded in a very happy manner in a short and well pointed speech which promised well for his ability and disposition for the honorable position to which he had been called.

In the course of the balloting Representative Collis made his first speech of the session in the support of his fellow veteran, Charles A. Holden, for doorkeeper.

The adjourned senate caucus was held Wednesday morning, in which after several ballots Mr. Pender lost two votes. He afterwards gained one vote, but after a recess of ten minutes he gracefully resigned in favor of Mr. Swart, who was elected over Mr. Boutwell, by eleven votes to five for Boutwell.

It has been very pleasantly remarked that Portsmouth has sent a good delegation.

Editor of Herald:—I want to enter protest against the "flight" that confronts one when entering the new City Hall. A plaster bust of Levi Woodbury, one of the honored list of our city and our country, has for years graced the old City Hall and in its removal from the old to the new quarters it has been changed by a few dashes of black or brown paint into a disgrace to the new City Hall. It does not seem possible that in this supposed to be enlightened age, a person could be found to seriously order, or another to carry into effect, such a grotesque, hideous piece of work. I am neither artist nor critic in the true sense, but I do think that I have an eye to the "fitness of things" and I believe that others must see this as I see it. I do hope that some one in authority will have at least a coat of whitewash put on the figure, but it may have a semblance of the original and be looked up to respectfully as a memorial of one of our honored dead rather than justly as the monument of somebody's stupidity.

FORESTERS' INSTALLATION

On Wednesday evening the newly elected officers of Constitution Circle, Companions of the Forest, were installed at the Circle quarters on Market street.

Circle Deputy Mrs. Mary Whitman was the installing officer, assisted by Mrs. Mary Ryan as marshal.

The officers are as follows:

Chief Companion, Mrs. Margaret Kelley.

Sub Chief Companion, Mrs. Nellie Philbrick.

Recording Secretary, Mrs. Sadie Lynskey.

Financial Secretary, Miss Elizabeth T. Kane.

Treasurer, Miss Katherine V. Leahy.

Right Guide, Mrs. Nora Hennessey.

Inner Guard, Mrs. Katherine O'Brien.

Outer Guard, Mrs. Eleanor Coffee.

Trustee one year, Mrs. Margaret Shields.

Trustee two years, Mrs. Mary Kennedy.

Following the meeting the members enjoyed a social session in which the large attendance found much pleasure. The leading officers had charge of the evening's program.

ELIOT

Eliot, Jan. 5.

Earl Stickney, who suffered an injury to his eyes while working at the Kittery navy yard the first of the winter, is at the hospital in Portland for treatment.

Edith Morton Raitt attended a meeting of the Margery Sullivan Chapter, D. A. R., at the home of Mrs. C. H. Wentworth at South Berwick Monday. The South Berwick members, Miss Sara J. Newton of Salmon Falls and Miss Raitt were hostesses.

Mrs. W. B. Eldridge was called to Milton, Me., Monday by the death of her only sister, Mrs. Belle Pratt, who had been very ill for more than four months. She was accompanied by her niece, Mrs. Claudius McIntire of York, an only daughter of Mrs. Pratt. Miss Estelle Farnett, a deaconess of the Methodist church, came to the parsonage Saturday for a stay of three weeks; she will hold meetings at the church every evening with the exception of Saturday evenings.

Carpenters are laying a floor in the attic of the parsonage. Charles Raitt gave the lumber and Guy McIntire, assisted by Mr. Eldridge and W. Frank Raitt, are doing the work.

Elmer J. Goodwin is the guest of his mother, Mrs. Clementine Goodwin. Mrs. Thomas Bray of Kittery has been the guest, of her sister, Mrs. John Shapleigh.

RAILROAD NOTES

The report that Portsmouth is to have a new wrecking train should meet with the approval of all the officials who have anything to do with the management of the Boston and Maine system. Portsmouth is certainly the most important point from whence the several lines of the company can be reached handy in case of wreck and a wrecking outfit second to none should be ready here at all times. This is believed to be the reason why the railroad is going to place the up-to-date train and equipment at Portsmouth.

Charles W. Bowker has entered the employ of the Boston and Maine railroad as enginehouse man.

Charles Pierce has taken the position of night car heater at the roundhouse.

New time tables for the public announcing the changes in train service were posted at the station today.

A new cinder walk has been put in alongside the outward track west of the depot for the accommodation of passengers who get off the rear end of long trains and who are obliged to do quite a walk before getting into the depot.

THEATRICAL TOPICS

"The Soul Kiss"

The plot of "The Soul Kiss" concerns a French sculptor who has a burning desire to locate a rather odd kiss, and one that comes from the soul. In his search for the maid who possesses this rare kiss, he is assisted by J. Lucifer Mephisto, who is thoroughly up to date devil, who has $1,000,000 to bet on the outcome. Satan is a grateful Mephisto, not at all Sardonio, but an entirely new type of devil, not at all suggestive of the many varieties already dished up to the theatrical palates during the last decade.

In order to aid his friend in the search for "The Soul Kiss," he summons from Hades a number of well known and notable ladies: Carmen,

Marguerite, Cleopatra and a Gibson bathing, all of whom are kissed by the sculptor and repudiated as lacking the rare quality for which he searches. Finally, he abandons the advice of J. Lucifer, and upon meeting Coppilia, finds his fate, and at the same moment discovers "The Soul Kiss"—"The kiss that rises from the heart to the lips."

Incident to the sculptor's meeting with these various ladies, are many witty lines, catchy songs and tuneful melodies. The most popular dancing diversifications of Novita's repertoire are "The Hunt Dance," "Sir Roger de Coverly," "The Soul Kiss," and "The Money Ballet," in which she is assisted by a coterie of clever dancers. The whole is enhanced by being given a most sumptuous new scenic and costume investiture, and from this dazzling background, Novita stands out like some rare and brilliant jewel, who dances into the hearts of her audiences, which creates a lasting memory. "The Soul Kiss" is to be seen to be appreciated.

TWELVE YEARS' SENTENCE

Gallagher Convicted of Intent to Kill "Big Bill" Edwards

Jersey City, Jan. 5.—James J. Gallagher was found guilty of intent to kill Street Commissioner Edwards of New York and sentenced to twelve years' imprisonment. Gallagher wounded Edwards at the time he shot Mayor Gaynor.

Jersey justice, proverbially swift, moved with celerity in Gallagher's trial. The jury was chosen in a little over ten minutes, two of the jurors selected having acted on the jury that declared Gallagher sane. Assistant Prosecutor Vickers opened for the state, taking exactly four minutes. The employees of the steamship company told how Gallagher came to the steamship and inquired for Mayor Gaynor. Their testimony was taken in five minutes and Edwards took the stand and told of the shooting and how he went to Mayor Gaynor's assistance. Gallagher apparently took little interest in the trial.

OVERFATNESS CONDEMNED

Fat, or even fatish, women readers who want to be in the mode this year must understand that the demand is for lines, not curves, and govern themselves accordingly.

That means OFF with the fat. It has become a duty. Many are trying exercise or dieting; but it is certain they will find these methods too slow and unreliable. The cheapest and safest way to get in form for the Dietetokine mode is by means of Marmola Prescription Tablets. Any druggist (or the Marmola Co., 978 Farmer Bldg., Detroit, Mich.) will give you a large sized case of these elegant little fat reducers, containing a good, generous supply, for seventy-five cents, and even this quantity should be enough to make a decided impression on your excess fat. Many have lost as much as a pound a day.

These Marmola Prescription Tablets may be used with impunity and likewise perfect confidence, for, being made strictly in accordance with the famous Marmola Prescription, they are of course, quite harmless. They are rather beneficial than otherwise, in fact, never disturbing the stomach or causing a wrinkle of the flesh.

ARE ARRAIGNED

Arthur B. Sederquist and Harold F. Curtis, former members of the firm of Curtis & Sederquist, and of its successor, Sederquist, Barry & Co., which failed on May 20, 1909, with liabilities of fully $600,000, were arraigned yesterday afternoon before Judge Stevens in the Superior Criminal Court at Boston upon a new secret indictment, charging the larceny in 102 counts from 45 different persons of sums of money and stock ranging in amounts from $80 to $10,000.

This new indictment, covering virtually the same ground that the old one did, was secured by Assistant District Attorney Webber because of certain possible technical errors in the old one.

John E. Barry, D. Eustace Bigelow of New York and Perley L. Freeman, all of whom were also named in the old indictment, were also included in the latter and substitute one. They have been arraigned.

It will be set down for trial in the special session for the first Monday of February.

The creditors numbered many women. The largest individual creditor is Amelia Brownrigg of Nashua.

Mr. Curtis is a summer resident of Lake Sunapee.

Telephone Company Reduce Price to Nearby Towns

Following the recent cut in the telephone rates in Massachusetts the New England Telephone and Telegraph Company have announced a reduction in the rate on toll calls between this city and New Castle, Kittery, Dover, Rye, Greenland, Stratham and Newington. The cut applies only to public pay stations, where a charge of ten cents has existed since such stations were established. In the future the charge will be 5 cents to these suburban districts.

RICHARD SEELEY

Richard Seeley died at five o'clock on Wednesday at his home, after a short illness. He suffered a shock a few days ago and has failed rapidly until he end came on Wednesday evening.

He was born in St. John, N. B., Nov. 2, 1827, and was the son of Louis and Mary Dunton Seeley. He remained in that town until he was 21 years of age when he came out to the states with his father and the other members of his family. His father was a shipwright and Richard learned the trade, and worked at his trade as some of the famous old ships built here in the days when ship building flourished. He subsequently became foreman and was known as one of the best workmen in the city.

He retired from that work in 1883 and opened a saloon on Deer street, which he has maintained ever since. In 1885 he was married to Lydia Dalton and two children were born, both of whom are dead, his son, John H. Seeley having died a few days ago. Mr. Seeley was the last of the family and two grand children are left, R. H. Harold Ham, and Mrs. Louis Smith.

Mr. Seeley was a noted lover of gunning and of good dogs, and although 82 years of age he was in the woods many days this past fall.

RIVER AND HARBOR

The light house tender Myrtle will sail from Portland Friday with the syndicate for Hicks Rocks, in the lower harbor at the mouth of Spruce Creek.

Barge Cantra is bound here with coal from Philadelphia.

Capt. Ephraim S. Hall of the Wood Island life saving station crew investigated a report of a schooner ashore at Seal Point Wednesday evening, and found that the wreck was no more than two dead trees on the point which in the dusk looked like a vessel's mast.

Arrived Below

Schooner Annie P. Kimball, Whittemore, Southwest Harbor, Me., for Gloucester, with dry fish.

Tugboat Smith, Perkins, Portland, towing two lumber laden barges; picked up large loaded with brick and proceeded for Boston.

Sailed

Schooner Alice, Athena, Buena and Myrtle Haskins, for the fishing grounds.

NOW IN THE METROPOLIS

Ralph Green, a well known Portsmouth lawyer, who has for several years represented the A. Storrs and Bement company of Boston, is now associated with the R. C. Kastner Paper company of Worth street, New York city as secretary.

The company deals in bond, linen, ledger, fine writing papers, cardboard, accounting material, cover paper, etc. Mr. Green was formerly in the catering and confectionery business in this city.

NOTICE

STATE SHARES BUILDING BOOM

Number of New Summer Homes Being Built Breaks Records

From reports in hand of construction began or plans accepted for new summer homes in New Hampshire, Hon. N. J. Bachelder, state commissioner of immigration, believes that the amount expended in such building in 1911 will be the largest on record for any one year. All sections of the state seem to share in this building boom, with the lake country rather in the lead.

During 1910 the average of a farm a day sold by a New Hampshire owner to an out of the state buyer was more than maintained, but the ratio was more nearly even among the purchasers between those who bought for summer homes and those who intend to become all the year residents of this state.

The last three months of the year just past brought to Mr. Bachelder reports from every county of the state of activity in rural real estate and of building operations in progress or planned.

Of four property changes on the Cable road in Rye three were for summer homes for Dover, Boston and Malden parties. At Rye Beach J. Leeds Barrell of Philadelphia has purchased a lot upon which he will build in the spring. Two new houses were erected this fall at Seabrook Beach and lots sold for two others. Newington, in which within a few years $80,000 has been invested in summer homes, anticipates a further boom in 1911 as a result of better train service.

Prof. Barnett Wendell of Harvard has become the sole owner of the Jacob Wendell homestead in Portsmouth and will make it the summer home of his family hereafter.

Harry N. Redman of the Boston Conservatory of Music has bought a 25 acre farm in Kensington which he will devote to fruit culture. Derry, Londonderry, Atkinson, Exeter, So. Hampton and Nottingham have reported farm sales during the last three months to Massachusetts, New York and Colorado buyers. Two extra good cottages erected at Cobble's pond the past season are owned by Mr. Harriman of Cliftondale, Mass., and Mr. Kimball of Lawrence, Mass.

E. F. Spaulding of Newtonville, Mass., is planning the development of a summer colony on two farms which he has bought at Stratford Bow Lake, where, also the George S. Hill estate has been sold to Harold E. Williams of Lynn, Mass. Nyctobay farm in Durham has had a new cottage erected upon its premises, overlooking Great Bay.

Dr. F. C. Tobey has sold his property on the shores of Lake Wentworth in Wolfeboro to the managers of a summer school for boys. The Bishop school camp for girls in Chatham is to be enlarged before another season. Wolfeboro, Whiteface, Conway and Effingham report farms sold to New York and Massachusetts buyers. Professor Childs of New York has completed the artistic rebuilding of his farm house at Wonalancet. Wolfeboro reports one new cottage built on Lake Wentworth and one contracted for on Lake Winnepesaukee.

Harry Hargrave of Providence, R. I., has bought the David Gilman farm on Meredith Neck. Mrs. Anne McKinley of Philadelphia has added the Teels summer residence at Meredith to her real estate buildings in that town.

Rev. Mr. Adams of Poughkeepsie, N. Y., has bought the B. M. Smith estate in Meredith. Harry Daurant of Waterbury, Ct., has let the contract for a bungalow on Lake Waukegan in the same town.

The foundation was put in last fall for a $20,000 summer residence on Liberty Hill in Gilford for Franklin M. Potts of Pottsville, Pa. Two new bungalows have been built on Beaver Island in Lake Winnepesaukee. Charles E. Farnsworth, head of the advertising departments of the Boston and Maine and New Haven railroad systems, has bought the Wilkinson shore property on Lake Winnepesaukee in Gilford and Lake Shore Camp in the same vicinity has been added to the considerable holdings of Isaac Crocker of Providence, R. I. Former Senator C. O. Downing of Lacomia will erect a summer cottage on the same shore in the spring. Farms for permanent occupancy have been sold to Massachusetts buyers in Belmont and Sanborn.

No Merrimack county town has made as much advance as a summer resort during the year 1910 as has Sutton, where Boston men have built a magnificent country residence on King's Hill, the highest point of land in the town, and a bungalow on Tilton Hill, with another fine country home in prospect for 1911 in the southern part of the town. The Shaws of Brookline, Mass., have acquired the large estate, The Orangs, in New London, and will build extensively another season.

Prof. W. Guy Colby, of Groveland, Mass., will build in the spring upon a 20 acre tract at Webster Lake, in Franklin. The foundation is in for a house near Little Sunapee for Henry S. Jenkins of Newton Center, Mass. Four farms have been sold in Warner in the last three months, and each in Bradford, Dunbarton, Henniker and Hill to Massachusetts and Connecticut buyers.

In Hillsborough county farm sales out of the state buyers are reported from Hillsborough town, Litchfield, Petersborough, Milford, Amherst, Temple, Brookline, Mason, Hudson and Hancock. In the last named place another member of the Tudor family, which forms so large a part of the town's summer colony, will build in the spring. W. D. Barnett, a banker of Jacksonville, Florida, has purchased land in Nashua on the Lowell road upon which he will erect a summer residence.

Cheshire county leads the state in summer home building during the last months of 1910 and the spring of 1911. In addition to the splendid Charles MacVeagh residence in Dublin, Miss Meek of Salem, Mass., Miss Tilton of Cambridge, Mass., build in Jaffrey; D. E. Bradley of Berlin, Ct., on Gilmore pond in the same town; F. E. Drayton of Roxbury, Mass., at Contocook lake; the Misses Carpenter of Brookline, Mass., at Fitzwilliam; Mrs. K. G. Baer at Alstead; and parties from Gardner, Mass., at Sunshine lake, Rindge; while Chesham has expectations of a new hotel.

Professor Harmon of Tufts college has purchased a place in Rindge; Mrs. H. D. Mellier of St. Louis in Fitzwilliam; the Misses Canfield of Cambridge, Mass., in Waipole. Dublin reports three transfers of summer real estate and others come from Keene and Swanzey. Ross David of is packed in a dust-tight metal box, with patent measuring tube, which is both safe and convenient for tourists.

New York plans to establish a summer school of music in Fitzwilliam. A. V. Farnsworth has sold his 158 acre farm in Walpole to H. N. Rhodes of Norwood, Mass., who will engage extensively in fruit products.

There is much building activity around Lake Sunapee also. At Granliden work has been in progress upon a $10,000 summer residence for A. D. Chandler of Boston. A. T. Baird of South Orange, N. J., has purchased a Garnet Hill shore lot and visited it recently with his architect. Professor Furman of the Stevens Institute, Hoboken, N. J., will build on Lake avenue, Sunapee. Mr. Merrill of Lowell, Mass., at the same place, and Colonel King of Boston at Newbury. William Young, the playwright, long time summer visitor to Sunapee, has bought Maple cottage, Burkelaven. Several lots have been sold recently on Crescent lake and building is expected there in the spring. Unity, Charlestown, North Charlestown, Langdon and Springfield report farm sales.

One of the finest new summer residences of 1911 will be the 40 room mansion which Mr. Webster of Boston is erecting at Lake Asquam. Dr. Bridgman of Massachusetts also is building at Holderness. Newfoundland will have at least three new cottages and bungalows next season. The Mascam lake Shakers have sold one more building lot from their property and four lots for cottages have been sold at Post pond in Lyme. Rev. Mr. Waters of Brooklyn, N. Y., will build on Spooner Hill, Franconia, and one new Bethlehem bungalow has been in progress this season.

Two farms in Hanover were sold this fall to a Wisconsin man for $10,000. Mrs. Lucy Thompson of Brooklyn, N. Y., has bought the David Lander farm in Groton. Frank Mills of Camden, N. J., is the new owner of the William Harriman place on Mann's Hill, Littleton, Alexandria, Canaan, Enfield and Grafton report farm sales to Massachusetts buyers. On one of the Grafton places a summer school for boys will be located. The best advertised of all recent purchases of New Hampshire real estate have been those by which Congressman John W. Weeks of Massachusetts has acquired title to most of the slightly Mount Prospect in Lancaster, the home of his ancestors. To what use he will put his purchases he has not yet made known.

OULD KILKINNEY.

I'm sick o' New York city an' the roarin' o' the trains
That rowl above the blessed roofs an' underneath the drains!
Wid dust an' smoke an' divilment I'm moidered head an' brains!
An' I'm thinkin' o' the skies of ould Kilkinney!

Bad luck to Owen Morahan that sint the passage note,
'Tis he's the cause, the omadhaun, I ever tuk the boat;
'Tis he's the cause I'm weepin' here, a dhryman on a float,
Whin I should be savin' hay in ould Kilkinney!

The sorra bit o' grassy field from morn till night I see,
Nor e'er a larg or minnet—not to mind a wheeshy bee!
Och! An honest Irish mountain now would lift the heart o' me!
Will I ever see the hills of ould Kilkinney?

The rattie on the pavement blocks I fit to make you cry!
A hundred squorth' carriages like fire an' brimstone fly!
Tin thousand people, tearin' wild, black strangers, pass me by!
An' to think I left me friends in ould Kilkinney!

Bad luck to Owen Morahan! If I'd the passage back,
'Tis shortly I'd be home ag'in across the ocean track!
I'd not delay in Queenstown, an' I'd fly through Ballyhack,
For to greet the neighbors wind in ould Kilkinney.

JOHNSON NAMED FOR SENATOR

His Nomination Is Equivalent to Election

CHOSEN TO SUCCEED HALE

Will Be First Democrat to Represent Maine in Senate Since 1847—Gardner, Who Was Supposed to Stand Good Show For the Honor, Declared by Friends to Have Been "Crucified" by Democratic "Machine"

Augusta, Me., Jan. 5.—Charles F. Johnson of Waterville, Democratic candidate for governor of Maine in 1892 and again in 1891, a member of the state board of legal examiners, and one of the most prominent lawyers in Maine, was nominated on the first ballot last night at the Democratic caucus to succeed United States Senator Eugene Hale at the expiration of his term on March 4 next.

As the Maine legislature is safely Democratic, his nomination was equivalent to an election, and he will be the first Democrat to represent Maine since 1847.

Besides Johnson, the candidates for the United States senatorship nomination were Obadiah Gardner of Rockland, who two years ago lacked only about 7000 votes of being elected governor of Maine, and who for ten years was master of the state grange.

Patrons of Husbandry, and William M. Pennell of Portland, who at the September election was barely defeated for congress by Asper C. Hinds, in the First district.

The result of the ballot was as follows: necessary for choice, 53. Johnson had 67, Gardner 21 and Pennell 17.

Representative Pearce of Eddington, a prominent granger, declared that the Democratic "machine" had "crucified" Gardner, and that they were not either for the burial or the resurrection.

The Democrats have organized the legislature for the first time in a generation. Frederick W. Plaisted was inaugurated governor today. The senate organized with the election of Nathan Clifford as president. Frank A. Morey was chosen speaker of the house.

FOSS IS INAUGURATED
Parents, Wife and Twin Children of Governor Witness the Ceremony

Boston, Jan. 5.—Eugene N. Foss was inaugurated governor of Massachusetts today. In the presence of ex-governors, prominent jurists and men of the highest standing in the affairs of the commonwealth, he took the oath of office administered by Chief Justice Alken.

At the moment that the governor finished his oath a battery of seventeen guns was fired on Boston common in accordance with the old custom, announcing to the citizens of Massachusetts that the state has a new governor.

The inaugural address was delivered before both branches of the legislature in the house of representatives. Color was lent to the ceremony by the attendance of the new staff.

The father and mother of the governor had the pleasure of seeing their son inaugurated. The governor's wife and the famous Foss twins were also in evidence, as was the brother of the governor, Congressman Foss of Illinois.

After the ceremonies the governor held a public reception in his office.

WALKER ELECTED SPEAKER
Members of Massachusetts House Vote In the Open

Boston, Jan. 5.—Representative Joseph Walker, speaker of the Massachusetts house for the past two years, was re-elected speaker over Representative Martin M. Lomasney, the Democratic leader of Ward 8, Boston, after the sharpest speakership fight the legislature ever knew. The vote: Joseph Walker, Republican, 130; Martin Lomasney, Democrat, 99; Charles F. McCarthy, Democrat, 4.

The Lomasney forces fought every step of the way. They tried, above all, to get a secret ballot on the election of a speaker, a move which the Republicans contested successfully.

The roll-call ballot, which was ordered by the Republican majority, forced every member to vote in the open. There was no chance for any Republican member to kaufe the party candidate secretly.

URGES AIRSHIP LAWS
Governor Baldwin Also Comes Out For Woman Suffrage

Hartford, Jan. 5.—The oath of office as governor of Connecticut was taken by Simeon B. Baldwin before the general assembly, in joint convention, and an unusually large gathering of prominent citizens of the state and many guests of the new executive.

Governor Baldwin in his inaugural message touched both on the legal and the historical side of many state questions.

CHARLES F. JOHNSON

He is Maine's New Senator in Place of Senator Hale

Among other things he advocated legislation providing for the registration and supervision of flying machines and dirigible balloons, and the extension of the electors' privilege to women, saying there has been a revolution of property relations between husband and wife and that "taxation without representation does not seem to be in harmony with our republican institutions."

TWO YEARS FOR KROL

Judge States Why Counterfeiter Got a Light Sentence

Boston, Jan. 5.—Anton Krol of New Bedford, after pleading guilty in the federal court of counterfeiting $2 bills, was sentenced to pay a fine of $1 and to serve two years at hard labor in the federal prison at Atlanta.

In passing sentence Judge Dodge said that he was imposing a light sentence because Krol pleaded guilty and surrendered the plates from which the bills were printed. Five other defendants charged with counterfeiting are awaiting disposal of their cases.

SKELETONS OF MEN MONKEYS EXHUMED

Tribe Thought to Have Been the Last of Its Kind

Los Angeles, Cal., Jan. 5.—What are described as skeletons of a strange tribe of horned man-monkey pigmies are being exhumed from an ancient burying ground discovered in the delta of Topanga canyon, near Santa Monica.

Forty-four skulls and almost as many complete sets of torso and limb bones have been recovered, together with strange antiquities apparently used by the tribe as weapons, and many stone mortars.

The tribe is thought to have been the last of the kind, and it is asserted by a legend of the oldest Spanish families that Aztec Indians exterminated them upon their invasion into Southern California.

SEES CHILDREN BURN

Horrified Mother Has to Look on, Powerless to Help Them

West Kingston, R. I., Jan. 5.—Two little children were burned to death and their home destroyed while the mother looked on, powerless to render any aid, in the isolated Glen Rock section.

The children were the son and daughter, aged 3 and 1½ respectively, of Mr. and Mrs. John Reynolds. The little girl had been ill and Mrs. Reynolds, leaving the children alone in the attic, went to a neighbor's house some distance away for medicine. Returning home, Mrs. Reynolds was horrified to find her house completely enveloped in flames. All she could do was to watch the burning of her home and the incineration of her children.

FINED AND DISFRANCHISED

Penalty Imposed Upon Nearly a Thousand Voters in Ohio

West Union, O., Jan. 5.—Fifteen hundred residents of Adams county had been indicted for selling their votes by the Adams county grand jury up to last evening and 948 have been fined and disfranchised.

Scott Townsend, worth $25,000, pleaded guilty yesterday, admitting that he got $12 for his vote. He was fined $50, given a six months' work-house sentence and disfranchised.

The election proving grand jury has not yet completed its labors.

No Sunday Shows in Brockton

Brockton, Mass., Jan. 5.—There will be no more "sacred concerts" or moving picture shows open Sunday nights in this city while Harry C. Howard is mayor. He has issued a statement to that effect.

A Word to Consumers of Gas

We do everything humanly possible to furnish a continuous satisfactory service.

After we have taken all the precautions suggested by the combined experience of gas engineers throughout the world, there still remain the uncertain operations of JACK FROST to be reckoned with, and sometimes he goes to extremes.

When he does, your supply of gas may be affected—it may be low, or the flame may jump or flicker. When you find such conditions 'PHONE US. We will give the matter our best attention. DON'T WAIT! There is no reason why you should have the inconvenience when we stand ready to serve you promptly.

THE PORTSMOUTH GAS CO.

WILL REPRESENT THE RAILROAD

When Mr. Charles S. Mellen, president of the Boston and Maine railroad, made his address in Concord at the Woburn club in October, he stated, among other things, that, "We shall do away with the lobby in the sense in which the term is commonly used. We must, however, employ the ablest talent we can secure to present to the legislature our views upon pending legislation affecting our company. At the end of the next legislative session there will be no complaint about the pernicious activity of any lobby employed in our interest."

The public is naturally interested to know just what is to be substituted for the old lobby, as it is obvious the railroad must have proper channels for communication with the legislature.

At all times there have been so many measures suggested, either by the platform of the parties or by the railroad commission, which affect the railroad, as have been suggested at the present time for consideration by the legislature.

The following plan has been adopted:

Harry J. Brown, Esq., of Concord, has been retained by the Boston and Maine railroad and his duties will be to examine proposed legislation; to keep informed on bills in which the company has an interest, as they make progress through the two branches of the legislature; to keep the attorneys of the company advised as to hearings before committees; and to perform any proper service which may be required of him, to the end that there may be a complete, open and frank understanding between the members of the legislature, the people of New Hampshire and the railroad.

The most important matters before the legislature will relate to the rate and taxation problems and these and other matters will be handled by the counsel of the railroad, who have had charge of the litigation in the rate and taxation suits, namely Messrs. Oliver E. Branch of Manchester, as senior counsel, and John W. Kelley of Portsmouth.

One of the principal charges which has been made against the Boston and Maine lobby in the past, is that counsel represented not only the railroad but other interests, and that in this way a powerful combination was formed for favoring or opposing legislation. No counsel who represents the Boston and Maine railroad before the legislature will represent any other client before that body.

It is expected that President Chas. S. Mellen and General Solicitor Edgar J. Rich will also appear before committees in some of the more important matters.

GIVES UP $50,000 JOB

Chicago, Jan. 4.—Charles D. Norton, secretary of the President, has given up the leave of absence which an insurance company gave him in April, 1909, when he became assistant secretary of the treasury. Prior to the time Mr. Norton entered the government service, he was Chicago general agent for a big life insurance company, with an income of fully $50,000 a year.

DEMOCRATS CONTROL MAINE

Augusta, Me., Jan. 4.—The biennial session of the Maine legislature which was opened today is the first since 1847 which has contained a democratic majority in both branches.

The democrats at this, the 75th session of the state's legislative body, not only will place a democrat in the gubernatorial chair by the inauguration tomorrow forenoon of Frederick W. Plaisted, mayor of this city, and son of Gen. Harris M. Plaisted, the last democratic governor, but have 22 of the 31 members of the senate and 86 of the 151 members of the house.

They will elect a successor to U. S. Senator Eugene Hale, whose term will expire in March, and Maine will be represented in the U. S. senate by a democrat for the first time since 1847, when James W. Bradbury was elected.

Resubmission to the people of the constitutional amendment prohibiting the manufacture and sale of intoxicating liquors, repeal of the Elting law which provides better enforcement of the prohibitory law, direct primaries, a corrupt practices act, a new form of ballot, consolidation of state departments and a material curtailment of state expenditures are matters which will figure prominently in the legislation this winter.

The session is held in a state house which has been remodelled and enlarged at a cost of $250,000.

The legislature was convened at 10, the oath administered to the members by the retiring governor, Bert M. Pernald, and both houses organized by the election of president, speaker and minor officials of each branch. The nominees of the democratic caucus, held last night, were elected on strictly party lines.

A committee was appointed to canvass the vote of the last election for governor, seats were selected by members of the house and adjournment was taken at noon until 10 a. m. tomorrow, when the oath will be administered to Gov. Plaisted and he will read his inaugural address.

Pres. Nathan Clifford of Cape Elizabeth in addressing the senate said he would use every man fairly and expected the same treatment.

Frank A. Morey of Lewiston upon assuming his duties as speaker of the house spoke at some length. He said in part:

"We are about entering upon a session of the legislature when it is expected that many important laws will be enacted that will be far reaching in their results, and this legislature must represent the demands of the people of the state. We are but their servants to crystallize into laws their fair requests of popular government."

"We are here also to face the financial problems that have arisen, and to make such appropriations only as are necessary to economical administration of the state's affairs, having regard for efficiency of the public service, and the people of the state have a right to demand at our hands economy and wisdom in the expenditures of their money, the enactment of just laws and the repeal of obnoxious statutes."

"We are here to discharge a great trust imposed in us by the state of Maine. Her educational and charitable institutions must receive just consideration at our hands, for these are prime essentials of government."

RAILROADS FINED

Philadelphia, Jan. 4.—Judge Holland in the U. S. district court today inflicted fines of $40,000 each on the Philadelphia and Reading railway, the Lehigh Valley railroad company and the Bethlehem steel company, charged with unlawful rebating.

The government was the prosecutor, the charge being that the railroads remitted demurrage charges on freight cars used by the steel company.

The defendants announce that they will appeal the case to the supreme court.

The defendant companies were tried on a large number of indictments charging offences against the interstate commerce laws, and had the maximum penalty been imposed the Bethlehem steel company would have been obliged to pay a fine of $3,200,000, the Lehigh Valley railroad company $2,500,000 and the Reading railway $1,740,000. The jury in rendering its verdict, however, made a recommendation of leniency.

In their defence the companies claimed that because of congestion at the works of the Bethlehem steel company, where improvements were being made, they were unable to move freight cars, and that no crime had been committed when demurrage charges had been remitted.

LOCAL DASHES

To get the news when it is news, read the HERALD.

These are the days of annual meetings and installations.

The Board of Public Works will install their officers this evening.

The mails are heavy just at present and the annual bills are the principal bulk.

Many of the college students will return to their studies this last of this week.

The evening school resumes work this evening. This is a big boon to the foreigners, who are seeking some education.

A hockey match between the High school team and an Alumni team is arranged as soon as the ice is strong enough.

The crowded condition of the schools means that there is only one solution—a new school building. If the industries came as they have been coming, it will have to be a big building.

The cold wave has arrived. From all accounts it has arrived in the South also, and Florida is meeting with heavy losses owing to the freezing weather.

The first of a series of dancing assemblies for the Elks and their friends will be held at the Elks home on Pleasant street on Friday evening, Jan. 6, 1911, at 8 p. m. Refreshments will be served. Tickets 25 cents.

Notices of the series of dancing assemblies by the Country club were issued to the members on Wednesday. The assemblies will be every other Friday, and will be for members only. They will be held in Pythian hall and Westworth and Marden's orchestra will furnish the music.

The children at the Whipple school made the most of the slight fall of snow and had slides working all around the building, and they were having the time of their lives, when the street department men came along with sand. Like the fairy sand man, they were unpopular.

Another day of good freezing weather and there will be good skating. It is hoped that hereafter the gates of the South pond will be closed and allowed to remain closed to insure good and safe skating on this body of water. In other cities, places have to be flooded to provide skating, but here, where there are natural places, somebody always insists on being a pinhead, and opening the gates to spoil the skating.

MONEY TAKEN TO THE CELTIC

Under Strong Guard of Naval Men $1,300,000 in Currency is Removed from Sub-Treasury for Payment of Sailors at Cuba.

Assistant United States Treasurer George H. Doty, in charge of the sub-treasury in Boston, paid over to Paymaster Jordan of the supply ship Celtic Wednesday, $1,300,000, which will be taken to Cuba to pay off about 13,000 sailors on the government battleship fleet. Eight mail sacks held the bills which were in denominations of $20, $10, $5, $2 and $1. A guard of seven men arrived from the Celtic under the direction of the paymaster and the bags were piled upon a truck for transit to the freight elevator outside the sub-treasury. The paymaster gave Colonel Doty a check for the currency.

All the naval men descended with the money on the elevator, and at the exit under the archway of the federal building the bags were placed aboard the automobile of the National Shawmut Bank for transfer to the Celtic at the navy yard. The National Shawmut bank is a depository for the government, and President William A. Gaston willingly loaned the automobile of the bank because of its equipment for carrying large amounts of money.

ENTERTAINED THEIR EMPLOYEES

The Portsmouth Heating and Plumbing company on Wednesday evening entertained the employees of the firm at the N. E. O. P. hall with a game supper, and it was a decided success. Messrs. Richardson and Leach did themselves proud and the employees and invited guests had a fine time.

DETROIT A MYSTERY

NOW SAID TO BE SOLD TO NICARAGUA TO BE USED FOR WAR PURPOSES.

Boston, Jan. 4.—Some mystery attaches to the departure from here today of the old third-class unprotected cruiser Detroit, which left the navy yard at 9 a. m. for New York, in tow of the sea tug M. E. Luckenbach.

While the old war vessel was purchased by R. I. Corbett of New York, for $20,000, at the recent auction sale of the craft by the government, it is reported that Edgar F. Luckenbach was in reality the purchaser of the Detroit. It is rumored that the ultimate destination of the cruiser will be Nicaragua, and that she will become part of the fleet of Pres. Estrada of that country.

It is said that Mr. Luckenbach has admitted that the Detroit will be sold to one of the republics south of the United States. The tug M. E. Luckenbach will tow the Detroit to South Brooklyn, where, it is said, she will be delivered to her prospective purchasers.

The Detroit cost $1,500,000 when she was built in 1891. She is only slightly larger than the gunboat class, being of 2089 tons displacement. She is a sister of the Marblehead, built at South Boston. She was commanded early in the 90's by Commander, now Rear Admiral, Willard H. Brownson, who in the harbor of Rio de Janeiro broke up the Mello blockade with her. Commander Brownson encountered some resistance from one of the insurgent ships and sent a shot across her bow.

The Detroit is 257 feet long, 37 feet beam and 16 feet draft. In her prime she went on trial at the rate of 18.71 knots an hour. Fully manned, she carried 284 men. She had an equipment of 10 five-inch guns, 6 six-pounders, 2 one-pounders and several machine guns.

The Detroit was appraised by the navy department at $13,812, and at the recent sale of that vessel several Boston junk dealers submitted bids. The highest, however, was several thousand dollars less than the New York bid. It was supposed the Detroit was going to the scrap heap, but it seems that she is again to be commissioned and will probably see exciting times under another flag. A statement was made recently that she would become a coal barge.

INSTALLATION

The officers of Alpha Council, Royal Arcanum, were installed on Wednesday evening, by Past Grand Regent Robert M. Chase of Manchester.

The following were the officers installed:

Representatives of the Grand council, E. P. Churchill, A. P. Wendell; alternates, A. T. Parker and J. K. Bates.

Trustee for three years, John W. Kelley.

The plans for the annual ladies' night, at which the Major Waldron council of Dover will be their guests, were talked over and everything indicates one of the best affairs in the history of the council.

DEAD BESIDE THE TRACKS

Man Thought to Be Charles Stackpole Thought to Have Fallen from a Freight Train.

Dover, N. H., Jan. 4.—The body of a man, aged about 30, supposed to be that of Charles Stackpole, formerly an employe at the McAlpine house, this city, which was closed several years ago, was found beside the railroad track in Durham early this morning.

According to statements by railroad men the victim was seen in the local freight yard about 1 last night and said he was going on the freight to Boston. The trainmen told him not to do so, but it is thought he boarded the train and fell off. The body was brought here this morning.

Not the Name of a Shoe—But the Name of a Method of Shoemaking

Every buyer of shoes should know about this system. It reduces shoe buying to an exact science. You have only to demand shoes that have been made on the marvelous Goodyear welt machinery. For the "Goodyear Welt" is the basis of every good welt shoe. Even the finest "bench-made" shoes are now made better on these inspired machines. Yet the prices are lowest. By virtue of this machinery you can now buy dressy, durable shoes at one-third the price the shoemaker used to charge.

GOODYEAR WELT

Sold Under Many Names
The term "Goodyear Welt" refers to a manufacturing process. It is not the name of any particular shoe.
Yet there are fully five hundred different reliable trade-marked shoes made by this system.
Several of these famous shoes are sold by shoe dealers in this and every other town.

How To Get Them
For the guidance of the shoe buyer the United Shoe Machinery Company has compiled a list of the five hundred trade-marked names of "Goodyear Welt" shoes. You should have this list—before you buy another pair of shoes. It points the way to economy, style, and durability in shoes.

MAY HAVE BIDDEFORD POWER DROPS DEAD

AT NAVY YARD

Atlantic Shore Line Said to Have Contracted with York Light Company

The York Light and Heat company of Biddeford is said to have submitted figures to the Atlantic Shore line which will result in their obtaining part of their electric power from that city. It is believed that motive power can be obtained more economically in this way.

The change may result in the discontinuation of the power station operated by water power on the Mountain river at Kennebunk, but the power house at Kittery Point will not be affected in all probability.

The power of the Biddeford and Saco street railway and the Saco division of the Portland street railway is also to be received from the same source if the power company's figures are accepted.

If the deal is made the equipment of the York company will have to be enlarged one-half.

NAVY YARD

The Maryland Gets Pennant

The armored cruiser Maryland is the champion shot of the United States navy. She won the pennant in the battle practice of 1910, it was announced at the navy department Wednesday, her record far exceeding the scores of any of the other vessels of the battleship class, which include both the Atlantic and Pacific fleets. The Maryland made about 40 per cent of hits with her turret guns at 10,000 under very unfavorable conditions of roll and pitch and with a target less than one-tenth the area of a battleship.

Ensign Carstein Leaves Navy

Ensign Lorenz W. P. Carstein, U. S. N., received notification yesterday from the navy department that his resignation from the navy had been accepted. He has been serving on the battleship New Hampshire of the Atlantic fleet. In 1902 Carstein obtained his appointment to the naval academy through Congressman Samuel McCall of Massachusetts. He was graduated in 1906. His first active service was on the cruiser Chalanogga, which was sent to the Asiatic station.

Brave Bluejackets Commended

A swinging coal bag struck Chief Boatswain's Mate Charles Baur while his ship, the Minnesota, was coaling at Gravesend, England, Dec. 1. The man was knocked overboard and injured so as to be entirely helpless. Notwithstanding the low temperature the cold water and the dangerously rapid current, Michael J. Malone, a New York bluejacket, leaped overboard and rescued Baur. For this he has received the commendation of the secretary of the navy. Coxswain Thaddeus King a Bridgewater, Mass., bluejacket on the Idaho, has also been commended for a similar action when musician Alfred W. Ogden fell overboard from the Idaho at Greenwich, England, Dec. 5.

Frank Guyer, who accepted a position as wine clerk at Hotel Frascati, Bermuda and was to leave for that place on Wednesday, has been obliged to cancel the trip by advice of his physician, who counseled Mr. Guyer to remain in this climate.

Mrs. Prescott Keyes of Concord, Mass., talked "Alliance" to the South Parish alliance in the Unitarian chapel Tuesday afternoon. Mrs. Keyes explained the work of the alliance in maintaining missions and missionary work in this country and the usefulness of the individual alliances. Tea was poured by Mrs. Daniel W. Badger and Mrs. Charles F. Shillaber.

A KODAK New Year

THE YEAR
1910 has been the greatest KODAK year ever known. More KODAKS have been used and more enjoyment derived from their use than ever before since the KODAK took its place as a vacation and all the year round companion.

The Year 1911

bids fair to eclipse even the great record of 1910. Thousands of boys, girls and grown-up people will get Kodaks and Brownies for New Year gifts. There is nothing you can present the young folks which will prove more acceptable. Remember to put "Kodak" on your shopping list.

Even the Smallest Account Is Not a "Bother"

There are some matters of course essential in considering and deciding upon your bank. Security of your funds and courteous treatment are among the taken for granted requirements—these are assured here. Then there are some banks that do not care to "bother" with small accounts. Here, "small accounts" are NOT a "bother."

The up to date housewife and the mechanic pays the household expense bills by check. Come in and let us explain how easy it is. If you pay by check you always have a receipt.
